

1.113
C3 R76
Comm. Pictel.
REGIONAL GRASSLAND CONFERENCE

to be held at

THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE COLLEGE

State College, Pa.

July 10 - 11, 1940

(Sponsored by the Northeastern Section and the Pasture Committee of the American Society of Agronomy)

July 10 - Wednesday afternoon-

Chairman - Dean S. W. Fletcher, The Pennsylvania State College

Address of Welcome, President R. D. Hetzel, The Pennsylvania State College.

Perspective-

1. Changing Agriculture in the Northeastern Region.
Dean C. E. Ladd, Cornell University.
2. Grassland Agriculture as a Pattern for Adjustment.
P. V. Cardon, U. S. Department of Agriculture.
3. Soil Building with Grass.
Richard Bradfield, Cornell University.
J. W. White, Pennsylvania State College.
4. Nutritive Value of Grassland Herbage and Adjustments in the Livestock Program.
H. B. Ellenberger, University of Vermont.
5. Discussion.

July 10 - Wednesday evening-

Chairman - O. S. Aamodt, Pasture Committee, American Society of Agronomy.

Adjustments in Farm Practices as Affected by a Grassland Agriculture-

1. Farm Credits and Market Impacts.
C. J. Brand, Secretary, National Fertilizer Association.
2. What a Grassland Agriculture May Contribute to the Northeastern Region.

3. Problems Incident to Adopting and Developing a Grassland Agriculture.
J. McConnell, General Manager, G. L. F.
4. Discussion.

July 11 - Thursday morning-

Chairman - George L. Schuster, President, Northeastern Section, American Society of Agronomy.

How To Achieve a Grassland Agriculture-

1. The need for coordination-
 - (a) From a State viewpoint.
F. J. Sievers, Director, Massachusetts Agricultural Experiment Station.
 - (b) From a regional viewpoint.
_____, Northeastern Agricultural Adjustment Administration.
2. Research contributions-
 - (a) Soil conservation.
C. R. Enlow, Soil Conservation Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture.
 - (b) Breeding better pasture plants.
R. J. Garber, Regional Pasture Research Laboratory.
 - (c) Grassland management.
D. B. Johnstone-Wallace, Cornell University.
3. Educational objectives-
 - (a) From an extension viewpoint.
A. L. Deering, Director of Extension, University of Maine.
 - (b) From a research viewpoint.
W. L. Slate, Director, Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station.
4. Discussion.

- - - - -

During Thursday afternoon and Friday, July 11 and 12, an opportunity will be given to inspect some of the grassland research under way at the Pennsylvania Agricultural Experiment Station and the United States Regional Pasture Research Laboratory.

- - - - -

